THE GONDOLIER'S SONG

Dedicated to MARY MADELINE MCCAWLEY

Slowly, calmly sailing along Beneath the full moon's light, The gondollar sings his sweet song In the stillness of the night, It is a love song and his voice Betrays his feelings deep. Rich but tremulous he sings: "My heart is yours to keep."

The cadence dies, he steps awhile And rests upon his our. He's dreaming of the dark eyed maid Then renews his song once more Under the bridge the echo sends The words back, "Yours to keep. In a vision dim he sees Marie By angels guarded in her sleep,

The moon behind the cloud is hid The southern zephyrs blow, The gondolier now plies his oars Through the waters as they flow. He is homeward bound, and as he glides Along, he gales the steep And with buoyant step he whistles low "My heart is yours to keep,"

Examinations on the sixth months | He says the law allows a hunter to work were given in the High School kill but one deer with horns, but the dogs have no limit, nor do they stop to look whether the deer has horns, The small and week deer are most in danger because they cannot so readily escape the dogs as the larger ones. It is the opinion of Mr. Rake the dogs have killed more deer durdepend afternoon on Monday, with ing the winter than hunters did in the open season in November. He thinks the legislature should pass a law that no dog should be allowed to run at large, but that he should be always under the control of the Violet Terwilliger, Helen Van owner. Owing to the deep snow this winter dogs could travel in the woods where a man could not go and a deer would break in while a dog would travel on the crust. The owner of a log permitted to run at large should be made liable for any act lone by the dog, and an owner who vilfully allowed a dog to run at large n the woods might be held criminlly responsible if the dog was caught chasing a deer.
